state of maine pictures thanks to the maine department of economic development, and art griffiths.

foreword

. . . maine marks its sesquicentennial in the year 1970 . . . the pictures we have chosen to use in our theme are indicative of the scenes which typify maine most, and which we will remember when we think of the state where we spent four years of our lives . . . our front endsheet is the portland headlight . . . the back endsheet is sugarloaf. . . .

mrs. campbell as snapped by art griffiths at the faculty christmas party.

president reynolds joined in the recognition of mrs. campbell's long years of service as she prepared to retire at the end of first semester.

art and his secretary, the indispensable lillian caron, take a breather from the long hours they put in at the news bureau . . .

art griffiths assumes the thinking pose which has been most effective in producing the answers to our needs.

dedication

it isn't often that a yearbook staff faces the problem of having two people worthy of mention in a dedication, but this year we do . . . mrs. gertrude campbell has served the publishing association as its treasurer, and has been its dynamic representative in lane hall's accounting offices . . . her face became a familiar one to business managers as they struggled with budgets and expenses . . . and who can forget her presence at board meetings . . . art griffiths lives on the ground floor of lane hall, in a cubicle called the bates college news bureau, where he and his son and secretary remain at the beck and call of bates people who have news to release or pictures to be taken . . . for the last two years, and undoubtedly before that, art has been ready in the wings to provide the mirror with pictures of people and events that we badly needed . . .
both of these fine people deserve a hand from the mirror, and this year they are finally being recognized . . .

professor berkelman retires at year's professor robert berkelman joined the bates faculty in 1924 in the english department . . . since then he has treated many bates classes to his own analysis of shakespeare's plays and sonnets . . . here are some of the familiar views of professor berkelman as we remember him and his classes . . .

doctor donald horsman was a familiar sight to those of us who attended bates functions . . . for many years he served as the attending physician for the athletic department . . . it was with sadness that the bates community learned of his death as we returned to classes in september . . . doctor horsman was posthumously awarded the varsity "b" by the athletic department in recognition of his years of unselfish service . . .

Information

freshman orientation

. . . freshman orientation began as always on the saturday before classes began . . . tests, lectures, discussions and book-buying occupy their time before the upper classmen arrive and destroy their isolated world, and once again convocation starts the year off officially . . . hazing no longer plays a part in getting to know the bates campus, although the frosh still wear their buttons and bibs for purposes of learning each other's names . . .

. . . this year instead of debibbing ceremonies which used to mark the end of hazing on the girls' side of campus, women's council held a banquet in commons which gave everyone a chance to. meet the freshmen girls, and also afforded an opportunity to ge acquainted with dean isaacson . . .

hermit island

. . . this year marked the second that we have gone to hermit island . . . we made the trip on a coolish fall sunday afternoon . . . frisbees, volleyball, and walks on the rocks contributed to the sunburns we brought back to campus . . .

back to bates weekend came early this year . . . the first weekend in october, to be exact . . . this year's homecoming was highlighted by the appearance of the shirelles on friday night and paul butterfield sunday afternoon . . . saturday's entertainment included a touchdown by quarterback steve boyko with seconds left on the clock for a thrilling come-from-behind victory over trinity . . .

parents' weekend

the second annual parents' weekend got off to a start with open classes on friday afternoon for those parents able to come early . . . the parents were dined in the cage at noon, saturday . . . then all went over to the football field to take in the game between the bobcats and norwich . . . later that night it was out to eat, if you didn't mind standing in line at the local restaurants . . . brunch and a chapel service on sunday finished off the weekend, which was an even bigger success than it was last year . . .

panel discussions on such topics as the new morality were also part of the program for saturday morning . . . after the discussions were over many parents went on to the cage, where many of them were impressed by the good food prepared by mr. canedy's staff.

the robinson player's production of marat/-sade opened the theater season on november 6, 7, and 8. john shea as jean-paul marat, ed romine as the marquis de sade, and michele lettier as charlotte corday led the performance.

the final scene was quite moving as the action on stage spilled over and enveloped the audience. the production was not so much a play as an experience in living theater.

you know i can't hear

early in december the robinson players again stepped onto the stage of the little theater, this time presenting the broadway hit, you know i can't hear you when the water's running! . . . this production consists of four short plays, written by robert anderson . . . shown here are scenes from these plays . . . appearing were linda very, chuck pacheco, melanie abbott, janna lambine, peter murray, and don weiner.

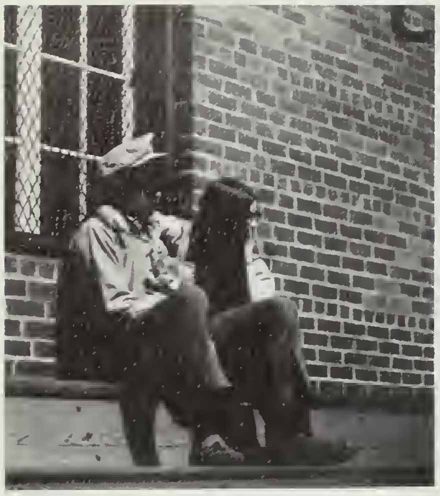
sadie hawkins



sadie called this year in november, causing consternation among the men on campus as they listened for clues as to the identity of their escorts to the gala affair, held in the famous alumni gymnasium . . . an interesting evening was had by all . . .

the broadway musical mame was presented April 2, 3, 4, 5, and again during commencement . . . the rob players were among the first to present this play on an amateur stage . . . the play featured linda very in the title role . . .

Dear Students:

It is the feeling of the Ivy Day Student - Faculty Committee formed last spring that Ivy Day should not continue as in recent years. We, as class officers, felt that the continuation or discontinuation of Ivy Day should be a student decision and not one based on tradition or faculty preferences. Student support for Ivy Day in any form was practically non-existent. With hope that students will show more interest in a reformation of Ivy Day in the future, we regret to announce that Ivy Day 1970 will not transpire.

where is the something, where is the someone

is there an answer in their faces

follow the windsong.
down to the gutter, up to the glitter;
into the city where the truth lies.

follow my heartbeat.
where will they lead me, and will i ever discover
why i live and die?

COVERED BRIDGE

. . . and when i get there

and what time it was
it was . . .
a time of innocence,
a time of confidences.
long ago . . . it must be . . .
preserve your memories;
they're all that's left you.
